POWDER MAGAZINE BLOWS

Thirty Dead

Tarancon (near Madrid), July 26.—Thirty people were dead here tonight and 60 were in hospital as the result of a powder magazine explosion which early this morning hurled tons of rocks and earth for more than a mile through the air. Great rocks weighing more than 400 pounds came crashing down on the fragile houses of this little town, shattering them and leaving gaping holes in the roofs of others. The whole of a small hill which covered the magazine has disappeared in the blast of about 200 tons of high explosive shells, which belonged to the Spanish Army, For a great distance, around, no sign of vegetation remains. The explosion occurred before dawn, cutting electric power lines.

Late today, troops were clearing the streets and distributing water and lorry-loads of bread. The whole of the town of Tarancon, with its 7,000 inhabitants, looks again as it did after suffering heavy bombing during the civil war. Reconstruction work had only recently finished.

The sergeant in charge of the magazine, who was not there when it went up, gave himself up later in the day at an Army post 10 miles away. He said that he feared he would be lynched. Reuter.

Pacific Korea Union

THOUGH most Asian countries no doubt agree in principle on the desirability of some sort of Pacific alliance against Communism, the reactions to the proposals put forward recently at Baguio by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and President Quirino have so far been guarded and watchful. This has apparently not deterred the Generalissimo. Discredited though he may be, he is still an astute politician, and the news that he is to visit south Korea for discussions with the President, Dr Synghman Rhee, shows that he has been pushing ahead with his plans. It is not surprising that the Bagulo proposals have won. Dr Rhee's immediate support. Korea is still split into two parts—the Communist-dominated "People's Republic" in the north, and the Korean Republic, recognised by the western Powers, in the south. America has now withdrawn all her occupying troops from south Korea, but at Dr Rhee's request has left behind a military mission to supervise the training of local forces. This merely follows, the Russian withdrawal from north Koren, which took place last year, and does not mean that America has lost interest in Korea. In his speech to Congress earlier this week President Truman spoke of the need for both military and monetary assistance for the Republic: the figure mentioned in the past, with Mr Truman's approval, has been $150 million. But to get this aid Dr Rhte must ensure that the Communists do not infiltrate into his government, and that any conlition government which is set up for the whole of Korea does not include Communists. This is no easy task. Russian influence certainly remains to have concrete results.

in north Koren, though it is difficult to determine whether or not the Russians have any direct control over the government. There have recently been border incidents on such a scale that artillery has been used by both sides, and the north Korean government is constantly seeking to provoke internal unrest in south Korea. Communist influence in the Republic is not great, but there is a section of the population which opposes the continued division of the country on nationalistic grounds. Against this troubled background it is natural that Dr Rhee welcomes joint measures for combatting Communism' of the sort proposed by Chiang Kai-shck. But before Chiang can be said to have succeeded in his nim of forming a powerful anti-Communist alliance in the East he must first interest other Asian countries—not so immediately beset by the Communist threat as Korcaand the western Powers. He will not find this easy. The timing of the Bagulo proposals gives rise to the suspicion that they are merely a last desperate effort by Nationalist China to secure American aid by becoming part of a broad anti-Communist front too important for America to ignore. Pandit Nehru, for India, and Mr Acheson, for America, both said recently that efforts to form a Pacific union at this stage were premature. Australia and New Zealand have shown little interest in Chiang's proposals. And Britain is occupied with more pressing problems. The forthcoming discussions at Scoul, Important though they may be to Dr Rhee, would thus appear unlikely.

Ancients Amid Moderns

We see an open armchair made of light wood with the rounded edges typical of Chinese craftsmanship. This piece retains the low front stretcher design originally to keep feet off cold floors.

One very modern note, and welcome too, are the cushions of thick foam rubber used for the chairs and for an interesting daybed. This has a lattice frame at one end and half way along the back, a piece derived from a very antique couch. It has three removable cushions filled with the foam rubber.

There is an interesting table, nice for use as a coffee table. When used in China it was set served as a family gathering

"Remarkable" Medical Discoveries In Malaya

REPORT ON FAR EAST RESEARCH

London, July 26. - A Colonial Office report today described Malaya as an important testing ground where remarkable medical discoveries had recently been made, and where ambitious experiments in fish culture were about to begin.

The report, which also mentioned that £135,000 had been granted for the construction of a fisheries research station at Hongkong, was compiled by the Colonial Research Council. It was submitted to the Secretary of State for the Colonies by Mr David Rees-Williams, Chairman of the Council.

Manchester, July 26.—England and New Zealand drew the Third Test cricket match here today with the final scoreboard in brief showing New Zealand 293 and 348 for seven; England 440 for nine declared. Long before stumps were drawn it was obvious that there would be no definite result. What little hope England had after getting the first two New Zealand wickets for 58 was shattered when Bert Sutcliffe went on to reach his first Test century in England and Martin Donnelly later hit a brilliant 80. By mid-afternoon New Zealand had cleared their first innings arrears of 147 and there then remained about three hours for play. The pitch appeared to be taking spin to favour that type of bowler, but the struggle between them and New Zealand's two brilliant left-handers, Sutcliffe and Donnelly, ended with honours to the batsmen.

Going back in his life, Jearned that Bob used to play semi-pro baseball in Brooklyn. When he told me he had carned his first "buck" on a cruise boat to Havana, I remembered that I had done the same thing. He has gone a long way since he decided that he wanted to be a crooner-and his mother persunded him to become an opera star. His Sunday radio show is really a grand slam in musical programmes..

Mr Merrill used a little poker psychology when he went to six no trump on today's hand. His partner's bid of four no trump was intended as a Black- 66 TELLO. Pooh Pooh!" said wood bid, asking for aces.

The opening lead of the jack of clubs was won with the king. A small club was led to the ace, East showed out. This marked West with five clubs originally. Three rounds of diamonds were taken and then four rounds of spades. West let go of a heart, diamond and a club. The queen of clubs was eashed. Now instead of taking a chance on the heart finesse Bob simply led a club and threw West in, knowing he would have to return a heart, which gave him his contract.

DOLLAR NEEDS PUT AT $1,500m.

Paris, July 26.—Britain's dollar needs under the Marshall Plan for 1949-50 have increased from $940,000,000 to more than $1,500,000,000, a source close to the Economic Co-operation Administration stated today.

This is more than a third of the total amount likely to be available to Western Europe for the second year of the Recovery Programme.

Britain, allocated $1,239,000,000 in the first year of the programme, received substantially more than any other participant and about one-quarter of all the funds voted by Congress.

Her needs for 1949-50 are said to have caused a stir among other nations, which stand to lose in the proportional New US Order share-out.

The total which will be available is not known, but it is expected to be $1,000,000,000 less than last year. Britain put her dollar needs at $940,000,000 in her original 1949-50 programme report to the European Economic Co-Operation Administration
